Homework, Class Attendance, and Participation:

Students are required to attend all classes and participate actively. Students should treat their classroom obligations as they would treat any serious professional engagement. Your participation grade (10% of the total course grade) will be based on the instructor's assessment of how well you contribute to classroom dynamics relative to your class peers; each class member is expected and encouraged to contribute to the dialogue or discussion.

It is important that you read the assigned readings as background information on the issue/topic before each class session. The classroom will provide you an opportunity to present your views and opinions on the topics under discussion, and to help you refine your knowledge and perspective based on these interactions.

Please note the following: In case of an absence, the student is responsible for the materials and assignments for that class; it is the student's responsibility to contact the course Teaching Assistant regarding absences and assignments that are missed. Students must submit a one-page write-up summarizing any assigned textbook chapter reading for each missed session; this will be due within one week of the missed session. Unexcused absence from five or more scheduled class sessions (which is a total of 33% of this course) will be grounds for failure. If you do have to miss class due to a personal emergency, please let the Teaching Assistant know as soon as possible. Such emergencies will be dealt with on a case-by-case basis.

Participation grades will be based on quality (in-class performance that reflects intellectual depth, insightfulness, and contribution to class learning) and quantity (consistency and regularity of performance). Quality counts more. However, one cannot make quality comments without at least some degree of participation, so in this respect quantity will have some weight. But do keep in mind the following when considering your participation in class discussions: sometimes it's better to remain silent and have others think you are unprepared or a bit dim, rather than speaking out and confirming those suspicions.

Accordingly, you are expected to come fully prepared and ready to participate for every class. Be prepared to be called upon to "open" a class discussion by presenting your full analysis and thoughts on the assigned topic at the start of class, or to be asked through a "cold call" for comment in the midst of the discussion.

The grading of class participation is necessarily a subjective exercise. However, high-quality comments have one or more of the following characteristics: (1) insightfulness, (2) appropriate application of course concepts, and (3) advancement of the in-class discussion at hand.

Some specific criteria for evaluating discussion contributions are:

- Does the student demonstrate an eagerness to participate?
- Is the student a good listener? Does he/she build on others' comments?
- Is the student willing to interact with other class members?

- Are the points made relevant to the discussion? Are they linked to others' comments?
- Do comments demonstrate evidence of in-depth analysis of the case?
- Do comments add to our understanding of the situation?
- Do comments make a substantive contribution to the advancement of our analysis?
- Is there a willingness to test new ideas, or are the comments “safe?”
- Do comments show an understanding of concepts or analytical techniques properly applied to the current situation?
- Is the student presenting insightful quantitative analysis (when required)?
- Is the student demonstrating ethical considerations and insights?

EXAMINATIONS

An in-class mid-term examination will be administered during the middle of Week 2, and an in-class final examination will be administered at the end of the course. Details of content, exam format, etc. will be announced in class well before the examination dates.
